Respected Mr. S. Soma Sekhar Naidu Garu,

Date : 03/09/2026

On behalf of faculty members and students of the Civil Engineering Section, we express our sincere and heartfelt gratitude to Mr. Soma Sekhar Naidu, Managing Director of Desire 2 Design Engineers, for delivering an insightful and thought-provoking Guest Lecture on "Bridging the Gap between Industry and Academia."

The session was highly informative, engaging, and beneficial to our students. Your valuable insights and extensive industry experience provided our students with a clear understanding of the connection between academic knowledge and its practical application in the industry.

We sincerely appreciate the way you explained various concepts through practical examples, real-world experiences and industry-based situations. These examples helped our students understand how the theories and principles they learn in the classroom are applied in actual professional environments. Your practical approach made the session more interesting, relatable, and meaningful for the students.

Your interaction with the students went beyond the delivery of a conventional lecture. You encouraged them to ask questions, participate actively, and look at engineering problems from a practical perspective.

The session also provided our students with valuable awareness of industry expectations, professional responsibilities, career opportunities, and the skills required to become competent and industry-ready professionals. Your guidance on bridging the gap between what students learn academically and what the industry expects from young professionals was particularly valuable.

Your contribution has made this Guest Lecture a truly enriching and memorable learning experience.

We sincerely look forward to your continued association and to many more such meaningful Industry-Academia interactions, knowledge-sharing sessions, and collaborative initiatives in the future.

Thank You
